ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY WORKSHOP

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY WORKSHOP

Get ready to win contracts & apply for funding!

95% of contractors are more likely to use your services if you show you're green!

It helps your business when applying for public funding.

Winning contracts has always been challenging and with a receding economy it is more competitive than ever. Because of this it's vital that organisations do all they can to gain a competitive advantage in the bidding process and developing an Environmental Policy has becoming crucial.

There are many benefits in developing an Environmental Policy for your organization:

- Help with securing new business (new tenders) and funding applications (PQQ)
- Commitment to demonstrable environmental management helping enhance public/community relations
- More efficient resource use and associates cost savings
- Reducing accidents / incidents – legal compliance
- Improving industry/government relations

The workshop will cover the following topics:

1. What is an environmental policy and why to write one	4. Assisting you writing a tailored environmental policy for your organization
2. How to identify the environmental aspects and impacts of your business	5. Introduction to Environmental Management Systems and its financial benefits
3. How to develop an environmental policy, and the commercial advantage that gives you in the tendering process	6. Further sources of support

The workshop will be led by Tony Stewart, an experienced trainer and environmental consultant who has been particularly successful in delivering Environmental Policy workshops for a number of organizations.
